

Greetings from CIO Security Limited

We are pleased to present our events for March 2026.

On the 18th and 19th of March 2026, the CIO Security team was honoured to be present in welcoming the President of the Federal Republic of Nigeria, Mr Bola Ahmed Tinubu, alongside his wife, Mrs Oluremi Tinubu. The King, The Queen, The Prince, and Princess of Wales, together with Mr and Mrs Tinubu, took part in a carriage procession through Windsor ahead of a formal ceremonial welcome. Thames Valley Police confirmed that extensive security measures were in place across the Berkshire town, with the event taking place amid the backdrop of the ongoing Middle East crisis.

Looking ahead, CIO Security will also be supporting the upcoming Duxford Air Show on 9th May 2026. These flying days form part of a series of themed summer events at IWM Duxford, celebrating its rich contribution to aviation history. The event will feature up to two hours of scheduled flying displays, offering visitors an engaging and memorable experience.

SIA Licence Fee Rebate Ends in April 2026

A reminder that from 1 April 2026 the cost for applying for an SIA licence for any sector will be £204, as the temporary £20 rebate scheme comes to an end.

Over the last 6 years, the SIA has been able to use historical reserves, accrued before April 2020, to provide a £20 per licence rebate towards the application fee cost. In practice, this is currently reducing the amount paid by an applicant from £204 to £184 a licence. Those historical reserves are now fully exhausted and so the cost to apply for a licence will revert to the statutory fee of £204.

The statutory licence fee itself is not increasing. It has remained at £204 since the SIA reduced it from £210 in April 2023. The change means applicants will no longer benefit from the £20 rebate. Both first-time applications and renewals will cost £204 from 1 April 2026.
